Non-Final Office Action

Acknowledgement is made of the response filed on 8/30/05. Claims 1-5 are pending. No claim is allowed at present time.

The previous rejection is withdrawn because arguments are found persuasive. Finality of the rejection is withdrawn. Upon further extensive searches prior art was found and claims are rejected as follows.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

The factual inquiries set forth in Graham v. John Deere Co., 383 U.S. 1, 148 USPQ 459 (1966), that are applied for establishing a background for determining obviousness under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) are summarized as follows:

1. Determining the scope and contents of the prior art.
2. Ascertaining the differences between the prior art and the claims at issue.
3. Resolving the level of ordinary skill in the pertinent art.
4. Considering objective evidence present in the application indicating obviousness or nonobviousness.

This application currently names joint inventors. In considering patentability of the claims under 35 U.S.C. 103(a), the examiner presumes that the subject matter of the various claims was commonly owned at the time any inventions covered therein were made absent any evidence to the contrary. Applicant is advised of the obligation under 37 CFR 1.56 to point out the inventor and invention dates of each claim that was not commonly owned at the time a later invention was made in order for the examiner to consider the applicability of 35 U.S.C. 103(c) and potential 35 U.S.C. 102(e), (f) or (g) prior art under 35 U.S.C. 103(a).

Claims 1-5 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over SISLER, United States Patent No. 6,194,350 and HUANG et al., Chinese Soc. Hort. Sci, 49(1): 55-62, 2003.

SISLER teaches method of applying to the plants an effective ethylene response-inhibiting amount of cyclopropene derivatives or compositions thereof. Further disclosed are methods of inhibiting abscission in plants and methods of prolonging the life of cut flowers. It also discloses that the compound may be applied in gaseous form. See the entire document especially lines 5-36 in column 4.

Instant claims differ from the reference in claiming a method under reduced pressure as in claim 1. SISLER does not teach the transportation under low or reduced pressure.

HUANG et al. teaches that pre-treatment of flowers with a mixture containing 1-MCP under low pressure resulted in prolongation of vase life of flowers. See the abstract.

It would have been obvious to one skilled in the art to use the method of suppressing the deterioration of the quality of agricultural product by using low-pressure technique to agricultural products because it was shown to be better by the prior art. In absence of any criticality instant invention would have been obvious to one skilled in the art.

In the light of the forgoing discussion, the Examiner's ultimate legal conclusion is that the subject matter defined by the instant claims would have been obvious within the meaning of 35 U.S.C. 103(a).
